To Change No. 29 to U. S. 171
Let's See This Through

DELEGATIONS from Hope, Lewisville and Bradley appeared before the State Highway Commission in Little Rock Wednesday in the opening step of a program to improve State Highway 29 from Hope to the Louisiana line. Earlier investigations disclosed that Highway 29 has federal aid for the 23 miles from Hope to Lewisville, but there is a 30-mile gap in the federal aid structure from Lewisville to the Louisiana line. Louisiana's paved No. 10 joins No. 29 at Arkana, on the line.

The first step, therefore, in putting No. 29 on a par with other highways in the matter of getting construction money was to have it declared a federal-aid road all the way.

U. S. 171, a paved road, runs from Lake Charles, La., to Shreveport, but the official designation stops there although the obvious projection of that number would be Louisiana No. 10 which is paved on northward to the Arkansas line and the junction with Arkansas 29. The delegations, therefore, determined on a resolution asking that the entire route be renumbered and given the designation U. S. 171.

The State Highway Commission gave a friendly hearing to the delegations and stated informally that the resolution probably would be adopted. But the effort should not be allowed to rest there.

Every state is limited as to the ratio of federal-aid mileage to the total mileage of state highways, 7 per cent or thereabouts.

Our section may eventually find that the proposal for No. 29 will be rejected or delayed, not by the State Highway Commission, perhaps, but by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, on the grounds that the state has been too liberal in asking for federal-aid designation elsewhere in the past. This would call for some persistent work in both federal and state quarters.

May Attempt to Double Plea for Emergency Relief

Original 250-Millions Bill Passed by House on Wednesday

DEBATED IN SENATE

Business Also Asks Right to File Labor Board Complaints

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Senator Frazier, North Dakota Republican, predicted Thursday that an effort would be made in the senate appropriations subcommittee to double the 250-million-dollar emergency relief appropriation.

The committee called Audrey Wilkins, acting WPA director, before it Thursday afternoon to explain the need for the requested increase in WPA funds, which was voted Wednesday by the house.

Chairman Adams, Colorado Democrat, said the subcommittee would complete hearings on the measure either late Thursday or early Friday, and that it could be reported to the senate Friday.

President Roosevelt was urged by a Business Advisory Council subcommittee Thursday to support the council's recommendations for giving employers as well as employees the right to invoke the services of the Labor Relations Board.

Other amendments to the Labor Relations Act were proposed in one of two reports submitted to the president on behalf of the council's industrial relations committee.

Attorneys Defend Company Organized Do Business "On Paper"

LITTLE ROCK — Organization of the Oklahoma Potomac Products Company, which is described by federal government lawyers as a "corporate fiction" established to defraud the bankrupt estates of the Cherokee Public Service Company and Municipal Gas Company of Muskogee and Wagoner, Okla., was defended by lawyers for S. R. Morgan and M. B. Morgan Wednesday as a legitimate and customary method of corporate transaction in which companies are organized "on paper" without expectation that they actually will operate any properties.

Discussion of the subject occurred during trial of the Morgan brothers in federal court on a charge of using the

U. S. Designation Sought for Hy. 29, Hope to Louisiana

Arkansas Commission Hears Plea of Hope, Lewisville, Bradley

BUREAU FAVORS IT

No. 29 May Become U. S. 171 to Shreveport and Lake Charles, La.

Southwest Arkansas, petition to the State Highway Commission to give State Highway 29 the federal designation of No. 171 was delivered at Little Rock Wednesday afternoon by E. P. McFadden of Hope and Pat Robinson of Lewisville. They were spokesmen for the following delegations:

Hope—B. L. Kaufman, John D. Barlow, Albert Graves, Roy Anderson, John P. Vesey, W. S. Atkins, R. P. Bowen, A. H. Washburn and Mr. McFadden.

Lewisville—R. L. Searcy, Harold Doherty, R. H. Edwards and Mr. Robinson.

Bradley—N. H. Taylor, W. C. Walker and T. F. Adkins.

Commission Favorable
LITTLE ROCK—Paul W. Sheridan, 53 of Fort Smith vice chairman of the State Highway Commission since Governor Bailey went into office January 11, 1937, was elected chairman by the commission Wednesday in its meeting at the capitol. He succeeds Hendrix Alphin of El Dorado, resigned. Dr. H. E. Mobley of Morrilton was named vice chairman.

Election of Sheridan came as a surprise since friends of Governor Bailey said the governor had indicated a preference for John Vogel, El Dorado newspaper executive. Vogel was named a member of the commission following Alphin's resignation January 15.

Members of the commission said the governor had made no recommendations to them. One member said the commission felt the position should be filled by an experienced member of the group. Highway Director W. W. Mitchell reported that Sheridan's election at an executive session was unanimous.

Bridge Survey Approved
The commission approved conditionally expenditure of $12,500 for a preliminary survey for a proposed bridge spanning the Mississippi river from Greenville, Miss., to Lake Village, Ark. The Mississippi Highway Commission has put up a similar amount for the work. Mr. Mitchell said no state funds were immediately available for the preliminary survey.

Congress has voted permission for construction of the bridge. County Judge Clyde E. Byrd of El Dorado, (Continued on Page Three)

Giant 72-Passenger Clipper Outgrows Factory

Workers appear as pygmies beside the 100-foot hull of the South Seas clipper which, growing too large for its quarters in the Boeing aircraft factory at Seattle, Wash., has been wheeled outdoors for final assembly. First of six such flying ships to be constructed for Pan American Airways, the clipper will carry 72 passengers on daylight trips and 40 on overnight journeys. Factory officials said it would require nearly a month to affix the wings, which have a 152-foot spread, to the hull.

Here is a side view of the new South Seas clipper which, when completed, will be the world's largest flying boat. Built in the Boeing aircraft factory at Seattle, Wash., the clipper will have a wing spread of 152 feet, and an overall length of 109 feet. It will weigh 42½ tons when loaded, almost twice as much as the clippers now in use. First of six such ships to be constructed, the clipper will carry 72 passengers on daylight trips and 40 on overnight journeys.

Britain and France Will Quizz Nazis

Anxious About Austria, Which Has Completed German "Deal"

By the Associated Press
Great Britain and France looked to Adolf Hitler Thursday for clarification of his intentions toward Austria, but there was no indication that either London or Paris would do more than ask questions about the southward spread of Nazi influence.

Vienna practically was intent upon winning from Hitler a promise of economic aid and a direct guarantee of Austrian sovereignty in return for her concessions to Nazism—the naming of cabinet ministers acceptable to Germany and the freeing of political prisoners.

Airport Manager Given Acquittal

Paul A. Wright Technically Freed by Reason of Insanity

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — Paul A. Wright, former airport executive who killed his wife and his best friend technically was freed Wednesday by the same jury which convicted him last week on two counts of manslaughter.

The jury convicted Wright in three hours on his straight plea of innocent but deliberated 18 hours before it found him innocent by reason of insanity. He had been charged with murder of Mrs. Wright and John Kimmel.

"It appears to the court that the defendant had regained his sanity," Superior Judge Ingall W. Bull announced. "I therefore demand the defendant to the custody of the sheriff until his sanity has been decided in the manner prescribed by law."

The courtroom was in an uproar after the verdict was read. Halted by bailiffs, cheering broke out again after Judge Bull left the bench.

Wright collapsed and was carried from the courtroom, where he had spent the last month fighting for his life. He was revived and presently returned to shake hands with his lawyer, Jerry Giesler, and pose, smiling, for a photographer.

"My heart's been clean from the beginning," Wright declared.

Austria Cabinet Is Approved by Hitler

Political Prisoners Are Freed by German Demands

VIENNA — (AP) — The new Hitler-approved cabinet went to work Friday executing German demands with the freeing of thousands of political prisoners. It was reported that anti-Semitic measures may come.

Three lists were telegraphed to Hitler in Germany before he finally accepted the reorganization which gave Austria just after midnight a cabinet including a personal friend of Hitler as minister of interior, two men called sympathetic to Germany and two nationalists.

The new minister of interior, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, left Wednesday night for Berlin to confer with his Nazi mentor.

The word was passed among Nazi members that Seyss-Inquart, who earlier had complained to Hitler against "irresponsibility" among Austrian Nazis, would see that heretofore would follow any illegal activity.

"The Nazi party has been outlawed in Austria but one result of the cabinet reorganization was an announcement that membership in the Fatherland Front—Austria's only legal party—would be reopened in a gesture toward internal pacification. Membership in the Fatherland Front was closed November 1, 1937, but the new move would allow Nazis to join. Provincial centers reported the Fatherland Front ranks were dumfounded by the developments.

3,200 Prisoners Affected
An amnesty was decreed at once to political prisoners which Nazis said affected some 3,200 persons, of whom 54 were involved in the putsch against the late Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, murdered in 1934.

Amnesty prisoners began leaving prisons and concentration camps, Nazis said that among those included were 22 persons sentenced to life terms.

The warning that Austria faced anti-Semitic measures came from an official who said "it is to be expected that the state defend itself against certain encroachments from unwanted immigration."

Public Still Confused
The cabinet changes resulted from Saturday's meeting at Berchtesgaden of Chancellors Kurt Schuschnigg of Austria and Adolf Hitler of Germany.

The nation still asked today what it all was about.

Schuschnigg received Hitler's assurance that the friendship accord of July 11, 1936, prevailed—meaning Austria's independence was recognized and Germany would not interfere in internal Austrian affairs. Austria also was promised relief from pressure brought against her by years of illegal Nazi agitation. Hitler told Schuschnigg he would not support illegal Nazis.

In an interview last January, Schuschnigg said that Austria and Hungary had cast their lot with Italy and Germany.

The new Nazi cabinet ministers will claim the backing of the Nazi or nationalist part of the Fatherland Front. The Nazis expect legal recognition, such as the monarchist movement has, instead of their long undercover status.

Dying by Statistics

ENGLAND takes the opportunity to crow just a little over statistics which show that in 1935 there were 12,741 murders committed in the United States as against 312 committed in Great Britain. Or, in other words—allowing for differences in population—an American stands 12 times as great a chance of being murdered as an Englishman.

That's noteworthy and something of which England may well be proud. But just to take the edge off any complacency, it might be pointed out that an Englishman stands 12 or possibly 120 times as great a chance of having his bloomin' head blown off by a long range shell, an airplane bomb or a hunk of shrapnel as does an American.

One form of murder is about as pleasant as another—and just as final.

Driving Out Tuberculosis

SEVENTY thousand persons die in the United States each year from tuberculosis, although the number is decreasing largely through the efforts of the National Tuberculosis Association.

The Association's annual Early Diagnosis Campaign will be conducted this year in April, the 11th such campaign in the United States. The drives are started for the purpose of uncovering new and unrealized cases of tuberculosis, and to encourage treatment of cases already known.

By bringing the disease forcibly to the attention of the nation, the association has done much to prevent infections spread, to place sufferers where they may be cared for, and to uncover incipient cases before they are actually into the illness state.

All the association asks is that if you have any of the tuberculosis symptoms—tiredness, loss of strength and weight a pain in the chest, continual coughing—you be examined carefully. A simple request and a life saver.

Perennial Passes

IT SEEMS almost too bad to see the Baker swindle finally exposed. For that hardy perennial has been fooling hundreds of Americans for 35 years. It is almost like an old friend, even though a false one.

Now Postmaster General Farley's sleuths of the postal inspection service have announced, finally and forever, that the Baker estate in which so many trustful ones have hoped to share, never existed. The whole scheme is fraudulent, and all the Bakers and Beckers who have kicked in a million and a half dollars in the hope of sharing in the non-existent but opulent Pennsylvania fortune have only the experience for their money.

Of course that's something. The next question is whether the extensive postal investigation, which searched the records of every county in Pennsylvania since 1882, will really convince the hopeful "beneficiaries." Belief in something one wants desperately to believe is the hardest of all beliefs to kill.

Science Studies the Glands and Vitamins for Source of Allergy

(No. 452)
Most physicians can remember the time when neither the word nor the idea of allergy had developed in medicine. Today everybody talks about sensitivity, hypersensitivity, allergy or anaphylaxis.

We have recognized the fact that changes take place in the human tissues whereby they become exceedingly sensitive to various substances and that the manifestations of those sensitivities may be of the nature of disease.

It is generally believed today that heredity is important and that people who are themselves sensitive with symptoms of hay fever, asthma, headache or eruptions on the skin as manifestations, are slightly more likely to have children who develop similar symptoms.

In an attempt to understand the nature of the condition, studies have also been made of the glands in relation to allergy, but the majority of the evidence does not indicate that the phenomenon of sensitivity is primarily glandular disturbances.

Since the vitamins have also attracted a great deal of attention in recent years studies have been made of the influence of the vitamins on allergy. Particularly interesting are studies to determine whether or not the allergic condition could be modified or controlled by giving vitamin C in excessive amounts.

It is conceivable that vitamins may affect the processes of infection as well as the processes of sensitivity. Chief of the phenomena of sensitivity is hay fever. Gradually complete studies are being made of the pollens available in every part of the United States at various seasons of the year. Patients with hay fever are treated by taking the pollens either by mouth or by injection or in the form of ointments rubbed in the skin.

All of this work is, of course, still somewhat experimental. While some patients seem to do much better when they are desensitized with the pollens used in various ways, others do not seem to improve at all. In addition there are people who suffer regularly with symptoms like those of hay fever but at all times of the year, being sensitive to substances like orris powder, dandruff from animals, feathers or dust.

Sometimes this type of patient improves with an improvement in his hygiene, getting more exercise, eating less and taking plenty of rest in a clean atmosphere. In addition means have been discovered for changing the mucous membrane in the nose, using various caustic substances, electric currents and similar methods.

Whereas some patients seem to improve under these methods, others do not.

We know now that some people may be so sensitive to certain drugs that they respond promptly with eruptions of the skin following even a tiny dose. There seem to be cases in which the eating of certain foods may so influence the blood that there are profound changes in the numbers of cells of various types and these changes in the numbers of cells are reflected in serious conditions like bleeding, weakness, swelling or similar symptoms.

The human body is a complicated, intricate mechanism and the application of all of the greatest refinements of medical science may be required before the problem of sensitivity is fully elucidated.

RAISING A FAMILY

By Olive Roberts Barton

Teach Child to Obey, Not Question

Raising A Family—No. 16
So far, I have been showing you how instinctively step softly at times with your children, mother. You crystallize your thoughts, so to speak, giving you a real and legitimate excuse for letting Kay or Jack down gently when they have not minded too well. Children will be children, and you are willing to condone part of their misbehavior because something told you they had to learn about life without too much interference.

But now we come down to cases. Matters have to be faced squarely, as you know. You have to harden your heart sometimes, so maybe it will help you to know why.

I am going to give the answer that you, very often, give your own boy or girl when they ask why they must be good. "Just because." Just because you say a thing should be enough.

It boils down to the problem of "questioning" and "unquestioning" obedience, to the good old argument about whether the child should always have to have things clearly justified in his own mind before he does them.

Stress Obedience

Reserve the right at all times to say, "Do this because I say so." It is good for the soul and good for character to learn to obey without forever turning the word.

Explanation is only half of discipline. The other half has to be taken on trust by the child. He should always be aware of the fact that you know more than he does, and that all things cannot be debated before snapping to it. This, I maintain, in spite

CAB ELL BANKS, privateer captain.

Yesterday: Tom late, the woman in the blue bonnet attempts to tell Polly the truth about Jerry and Jerry, meanwhile, is setting out to sea on the Sunrise.

CHAPTER XIV

POLLY CHELSEY got off the coach at the Queen Anne Tavern in Dover, where she took a room overlooking the stable yard in order to keep an eye on Nuisance. She had a fear of being separated from the dog before leaving England.

Next morning in a nearby shop she bought a dress length of black woolen material of the cheapest sort, and thread to sew it with. Then she found a mantuamaker who said she could turn it into a dress before night. She also ordered a bonnet.

"Make it plain and ill-fitting," Polly ordered, "and high in the neck."

Polly then made another surprising request. "Can you direct me to a wigmaker?"

The woman told her there was such a man on the next street, next door to the tobacconist's. "And not busy any more since people have taken a fancy to their own hair."

Polly found the wigmaker to be an elderly Jew with a sympathetic manner. When he had finished waiting on a customer and they were alone in the shop Polly explained her need. "I must dress as an old woman for a time. An old woman of no importance and no money. Can you help me?"

The old man looked into Polly's honest young face and decided it was free of evil intent. "Come in to the back room," he said. He placed her on a tall stool and studied her head. "Your hair is too heavy to be covered with a wig. Will you permit me to cut it?"

"Cut it?" answered Polly. "It's of no interest to me."

THE old wigmaker knew a good deal about disguise. He had some shadow save he had once made up for a theatrical troupe. He experimented on Polly's face with this

When he had fitted the wig and applied the lines of age to Polly's eyes he said exultantly, "That is good!" But he added, "If it's a reckless prank you're up to, think twice. Such things can lead to trouble."

"It's no prank," Polly said. "It's an escape from danger."

The old man's face grew grave. "Then it's well I've contrived with skill." He refused pay for anything save the wig itself and wished her bon voyage.

That night when the dress and bonnet had been delivered, Polly was obliged to send for the innkeeper and porter and tell them of her intent. She showed them dress, bonnet and wig, assuming a high-handed aggressiveness she was far from feeling.

"When I leave here tomorrow morning," she said, "I'll be disguised as an old woman for reasons entirely my own. I assure you no harm will come to anybody because of it." To forestall any quibbles of conscience on the part of either, she hastily overpaid her tavern bill and tipped the porter.

NEXT morning, what appeared to be a tall, bent old woman, haggard and uncommunicative, came into the stable yard of the inn to take conveyance on the Deal coach. She was followed by a mongrel dog and by a porter bearing her trunk.

As the latter helped her into the coach he said, "Watch yer dog, old dame. He's a frisky one." He lowered an eyelid to show his enjoyment of the situation, for he was a good-natured Devonshire man who relished a joke.

"Mind your manners!" retorted the old woman, frowning severely. "Get along with you!" Her mouth twitched oddly.

"Not till I ask ye about a letter," said the porter. "Here 'tis. This came from Lon'on last night, but not by regular post. The driver carried it down. He remembered about it this mornin', sayin' it was to be delivered to a young lady by name of Chelsey. Now your name be Chelsey, but it's been a time since ye were young..."

"Give it here!" said the old woman and whacked him smartly across the shoulder with her staff. "It's for my niece." Her eyelid, too, lowered discreetly, in mute apology for the whack.

As the coach jolted out of the cobbled stable yard and gained the highway, Polly Chelsey examined the letter with curiosity. She did not recognize the cramped feminine handwriting of the address, but supposed it must be from Mrs. Toby, belatedly wishing her bon voyage.

She had a more pressing matter to think about. The driver would soon be asking his passengers where they wanted to be set down, and Polly had not chosen her destination.

Even yet her only beacon was that phrase of Jerry's: "some where short of Deal there's a wretched fishing village where this smuggler puts in..."

Will I know the place when I see it? she was asking herself. Her fingers were automatically breaking the seal of the letter, and opening it. And now she began to read. By the time she had reached the second line she was sitting erect, gripping the paper.

"THIS will surprise you no little. Your Sweetheart Jeremiah Whitfield is now in His Majesty's Navy against his will. I was the one helped put him there and I regret same because it made you think he had gone off with Anson. For some days I worried over this and then went to the Unicorn and Cr'n to tell you. You had gone and my Troubles were added to when I learnt you were American and frendless. Mr. Toby says you are trying to get to France. I hope this catches you first. I hereby confer I never saw this J. Whitfield before the day he was pointed out to me in your company and I waved to him so friendly. The hackney coach Driver was the one employing me. That night this man went into the Unicorn and Cr'n taproom and set at a table with J. Whitfield and pretended to be drunk and I came in and pretended to look for him because he was the driver of a hack I was riding in. Then I saw this J. Whitfield of yours and told him I had Mistook him earlier for a Navy Man I knew and also told him I was having trouble with the hack Driver. Your Sweetheart got coffee and ordered the hack up and then went with us to the V-hickie. It was Nothing but Kindness on his part and it shames me to say he was then hit on the head and carried to a Ship. They said he was a deserter from His Majesty's Navy but on thinking it over I realize this may be a lie as our Navy is Short of Men and sometimes they are not to careful. They would as soon have an American as not, maybe rather. But whether he was a Navy Deserter or not, he was not a Deserter of you and this is what I had to tell you. My advice to you is go to the fishing town of Corly south of Deal and ask at the Inn there for a Man named John McGann. He is a smuggler that don't mind a Passenger. And now Good bye and God Bless you from your friend Mazie Miller."

P. S. The Ship they took J. Whitfield to was the Sun Rise anchored out in the Harbor out I think it has already Sailed. This is a very sad situation.

Political Announcements

The Star is authorized to announce the following as candidates subject to the action of the Hempstead county Democratic primary election Tuesday, August 9, 1938:

For Sheriff & Collector

of much new opinion, is the parent's right.

Many parents, it is true, expect too much. They are impatient about any inquiry on the boy's part or the girl's, into reasons. This is wrong, of course. If the child is to be reasonable, then the parent should be reasonable, too.

But not all things can be explained in terms the child will understand. And perhaps he needn't know anyway. Maybe you don't want him to go to the movies with Chuck, not because of the quarter it costs, but because of Chuck himself.

Children Are Loyal

For Jack to know you dislike his cousin, you may not think wise, likely, for many reasons. He would not understand in the first place. He might then turn right around, and, from a sense of allegiance stick to Chuck closer than ever. You feel that the less said, the better.

"Why can't I go to the movies with Chuck?" need not develop into an argument. Simply say, "I have told you, son, unless you feel that circumstances entitle Jack to know the truth. The only rule to guide you will be your own judgment."

The natural, hearty, sympathetic parent that the child adores and has faith in may umpire without a lot of talk.

Both kinds of obedience have their place in discipline. Children should learn self-government, certainly, but no man lives who is strong enough to be sufficient always unto himself. And he learns to walk alone only after his moral muscles have been first helped by a hand along the path. Secretly, it is a relief for children to look to their leader. And not always to know reason and more reason for this and that is also a relief.

A Book a Day

By Bruce Catton

Human Stomach Can Stand Anything.

The human stomach must be one of the most marvelous creations of all of nature's handiwork. Under the proper conditions, apparently, it can stand absolutely anything.

This philosophical reflection arises from a reading of "Man, Bread and Destiny," by C. C. Furnas and S. M. Furnas (Reynal and Hitchcock: $3).

These authors set out to write a history of human nutrition: what men have eaten, when and where, what it has done to them and how their fondness for this or that sort of food has at times changed the course of history. You might expect such a book—written significantly, as this one is—to be rather dull reading. But "Man, Bread and Destiny" is lively stuff all the way through.

A modern American is apt to get a bit queasy simply from reading the list of things people have esteemed as delicacies at various times. This list includes practically everything that inhabits the earth, from man on down, in all stages of preservation and at all degrees of preparation from raw to well done.

But, the authors point out, some of these foods weren't so bad at that. The untutored savage who found the ray entrails of animals good eating may have had depraved tastes—but he did get his vitamins that way. He may have found decayed whale meat a horrendous delicacy—but he never suffered from those nutritional deficiencies which create careers for so many dentists today.

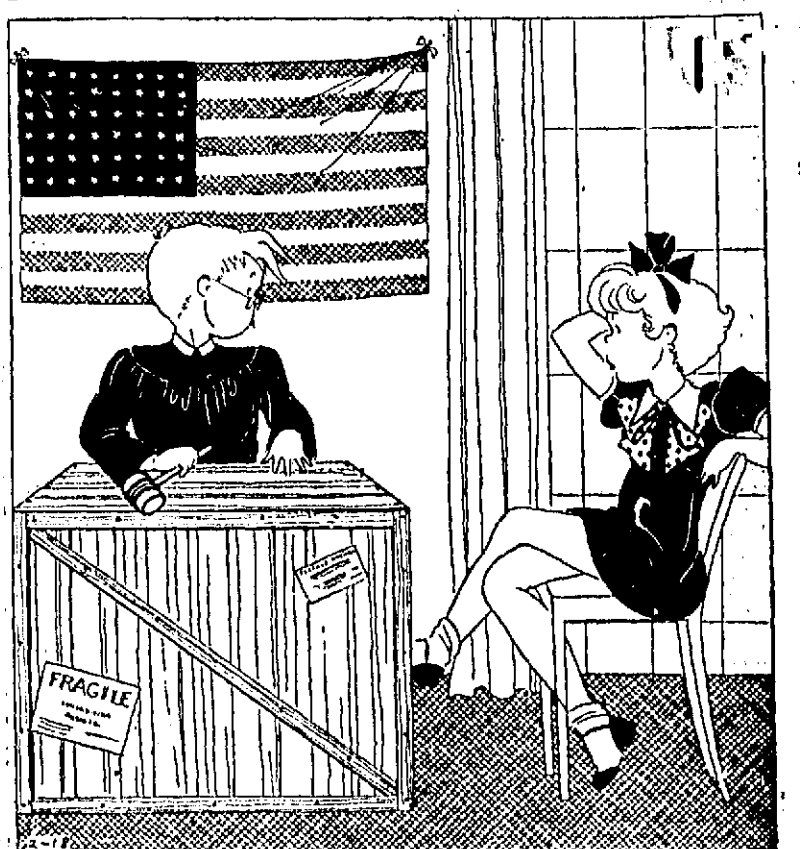

In other words, he ate about what he needed to eat, a whole. It occasionally poisoned him, to be sure, but in between times he thrived on it.

All in all, "Man, Bread and Destiny" is an entertaining and solidly informative book.

Norma Gets Stage Fright—It's the Barrymore Effect.

HOLLYWOOD—All over the lot: There was a first scene between Marie Antoinette and Louis XV (Norma Shearer and John Barrymore). Lords and ladies of the court stood about in their brilliant costumes and over-stuffed wigs, and looked on with stifferings of special interest.

Mr. Barrymore recently had been aroused from his snoring chair and was ready for the action. Whatever his state of somnolence away from the camera, the actor has been snapping into his lines with the old Barrymore fire. Miss Shearer always knows her part, never blows a scene.

Director Van Dyke told the assistant cameraman to "Spin 'em." After a few seconds he called, "Action!" Miss Shearer looked at Barrymore as thought to speak. There was a long silence. The camera continued to turn, and onlookers fidgeted. She had forgotten her lines. When the lines finally came they were spoken in a rush, as though by a stage-frightened ingenue in a high school senior play. Van Dyke said, "Cut."

A few minutes later, after a successful take, Miss Shearer explained: She said that almost as long as she could remember she had wanted to play opposite Barrymore. She used to see him on the stage. Later, when he was working on the Metro lot, but always in other pictures, she'd visit his sets and watch him work. They had no scenes together in "Home and Juliet."

So when this scene came along she was stricken speechless by her long-standing awe of a great actor.

And Says Woo-woo
On the "Crime of Dr. Hallett," set they're using several cages of "char-actor" monkeys. These are monkeys with certain characteristics, such as a mother and baby, or ones which will obey certain commands. Like character actors, they cost more to hire than ordinary extra monkeys. Actors on the set amuse themselves by picking resemblances among the monkeys.

The two most outstanding are one that looks like Katharine Hepburn and one that looks like Hugh Herbert and says "Woo-woo."

What! No Onions?
Jane Withers is joining Carole Lombard, Gladys Swarthout and most other feminine stars in the realm of low comedy. On an outdoor set for the picture, "Gypsy," she and Robert Wilcox were dashing, with a car and trailer, through a barrage of vegetables thrown by an angry crowd. The scene was supposed to end with a ripe tomato squishing over the frightened face of Miss Withers.

They tried it five times, and the players were well pelted with cabbages, carrots and such. But a property man, a former pitcher, had difficulty attaining accuracy with the tomatoes. A dozen of them had been prepared by hollowing them out and stuffing them with catnip, and they were hard to handle. There was applause when he finally connected, perfectly, splattering the star. Miss Withers licked her lips and asked, "Anybody got a hamburger?"

Maestro Montgomery
Robert Montgomery sings for the first time on the screen in "Wooden Wedding," and he's nervous as a new-comer who has to kiss Greta Garbo. Larks in fur corners of the sound stage and tries out his voice in undertones.

He wishes he had had a little more time for practice, but he has been very busy. "I'm gonna sneak out early this afternoon and take a music lesson," he confided. "But don't yell, anybody, or they'll put me in a Pete Smith short to round out the day."

How Old Are You?

Age is a quality of mind. If you have left your dreams behind, All hope is lost; If you no longer look ahead, If your ambitions' fires are dead Then you are old.

But of life you take the best, And if in life you keep the best, If love you hold— No matter how the years go by, No matter how the birthdays fly, You are not old—Selection.

The above selection was inspired this morning by a few lines written by Dr. Frank Crane, handed to me by a friend, and I am passing them on thinking you will enjoy them as much as I do:

"Nobody grows old by merely living a number of years. People grow old only by deserting their ideals. Years wrinkle the skin, but to give up enthusiasm wrinkles the soul. Worry, doubt, self-distrust, fear and despair—these are the long, long years that bow the heart and turn the greenest spirit back to dust. You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear; as young as your hope; as old as your despair. In the central place of your heart is an evergreen tree: its name is Love. So long as it flourishes, you are young. When it dies you are old. In the central place of your heart there is a wireless station; so long as it receives messages of beauty, cheer, hope, grandeur, courage and power from the earth, from men and from the infinite, so long you are young."

The Clara Lowthorp chapter, C. of C. will meet Friday afternoon at 3:30 at the home of Miss Mary Cornelia Holloway, South Pine street.

Miss Josie Anderson has returned to her home in Little Rock after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Anderson and other relatives.

Distinguished guests at the regular monthly meeting of the John Cain chapter, held with a 1 o'clock luncheon Saturday at Hotel Barlow will be Mrs. J. M. Carter, regent, Texarkana chapter; R. A. R. Mrs. W. H. Arnold, Mrs. Pratt Bacon, also of Texarkana; Mrs. Chas. H. Miller, state vice regent, of Little Rock; Mrs. W. H. Short of DeQueen; Mrs. L. D. McCowan of DeQueen. The chapter will hold an informal reception from 4 to 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Chas. Haynes, West Second street.

Mrs. Lile Moore and little son Lile Jr., have returned from a visit with Mr. Moore in Memphis, Tenn., and Decatur, Ala.

A number of representative women of Rocky Mount will present a three act play, entitled "A Southern Cinderella" at 7:30 Friday evening at the Rocky Mount school. No admission.

"No Decorations," Says Hoover

"There will be no decorating," Herbert Hoover, in the photo above, tells reporters clustering about as he sailed on the liner George Washington for his first visit to Belgium since ending his work as Relief Administrator in 1919. The former President explained that he is opposed to acceptance of foreign awards by American citizens. Mr. Hoover sailed as the guest of the Belgian branch of the Commission for Relief in Belgium Educational Foundation.

Reporter Reverses London Newspaper

Asks If London Had Been Swept Into North Sea by Storm

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco reversed London with reverse English Wednesday when a morning newspaper reporter, weary at queries from London newspapers about imaginary major disasters here, phoned the London Daily Sketch to ask if a storm had swept that city into the North sea.

A few weeks ago when a gasoline storage tank burned in a remote part of the business district, the London papers phoned to find out about "streets running with flame." Last week when a gale blew down a few trees, London papers phoned to ask if San Francisco would be rebuilt.

"Are you there?" asked the reporter. When the London editor replied he was, the reporter asked, "Well is London there?" He explained he had heard reports the storm had nudged the city into the North sea. "Oh, no," replied the editor. "It isn't like that, at all." He put the reporter in touch with an assistant editor who could clear up the storm reports. "It was rather a good storm," said the assistant. "At Norfolk the sea ran in five miles, but that happens fairly regularly."

"But what about London itself?" the San Francisco persisted. "Isn't the city almost done in? Didn't your subway flood and drown thousands like rats?"

"Oh, good gracious, no. You see—" "Didn't his majesty and the royal family have to flee Buckingham in a punt? Didn't London bridge fall down? Didn't—"

"Oh, I say. Are you pulling my leg?" "I wouldn't telephone 8,000 miles," the San Francisco declared. "To pull a chap's leg."

To which the assistant replied with finality: "It wasn't any storm, at all." And hung up.

The surface of England and Wales will be flat in 5,500,000 years due to river erosion, according to estimates.

U. S. Designation

Union county, who appeared before the commission in support of the $12,500 expenditure, said plans were under way for obtaining money from the federal government for construction of the span. The preliminary survey, he said, would require about a year.

A delegation of approximately 30 from Hope, Bradley and Lewisville asked the commission to join with the Louisiana Highway Commission in asking the American Association of Highway Officials to redesignate state Highway 18 from Shreveport, La., to the Arkansas-Louisiana line and state Highway 29 from Hope to the line as U. S. Highway 171 to make it eligible for federal aid.

The Louisiana highway is paved from Shreveport to the line, the delegation said, but the 50-mile strip from Hope via Lewisville to the line is gravel.

Members of the delegation said they were asking for the redesignation in view of the possibility that the state might obtain federal highway allocations totaling approximately $5,000,000 which have been tied up because of the state's inability to meet dollar for dollar matching requirements.

The commission expressed approval of the request and asked Mr. Mitchell and W. W. Zass, chief construction engineer to look into the matter. Mr. Mitchell said the American Association of Highway Officials would not meet until next fall.

Charges in the indictment are based on virtually the same transactions as those described at trial of the Morgan brothers in January, 1937, on a conviction for criminal contempt of court. They were convicted at that time and six month jail sentences were imposed. Both are at liberty under bond, pending ruling of the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals on an appeal from the conviction.

Fire Chief's No. 13 Never Alarms Him

HAYNESVILLE, La.—(AP)—Fire Chief Carl McEachern has proved he's not superstitious. In submitting his quarterly report to the North Louisiana Fire association he stated:

"I had 13 alarms during the quarter and answered 13 calls. I have been fire chief of the Haynesville department for 13 years, have 13 men in my department, live in house number 113, had a fire loss during the quarter of $1,300.10, had my first automobile accident on the 13th and it cost me $13 to get it fixed."

Culinray Glamor Is Essential If You'd Eat Alone and Like It

A tray full of individual indulgence. For a visiting friend, for an invalid, or for your own private tea hour all alone in your room—a glistening, moderate tray set up with glamorous little sandwiches, cakes and tea. Why not?

(From Schraft's, New York)

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Staff Writer

Glamor can be a personal matter. Give a beautiful lobster or mushrooms under glass, for example. Or even a tray of afternoon tea—tea just for one in the live-alone-and-like-it manner. Invalids come by such things naturally, but I often wonder why the hale in body but fatigued in spirit shouldn't have a touch of private luxury now and then.

Your private munching or your so-called tea hour will be sweeter for a cup cake or two.

Self-Indulgence Cup Cakes
(Serves 4 to 6)

1 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1/2 cup milk, 1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream sugar and butter well. Add eggs one at a time and continue creaming until mixture is very light. Sift flour with baking powder and salt.

several times. Add this to egg mixture alternately with the milk. Then add vanilla. Bake in small cup cake tins in a moderately hot oven. Cool and frost upside down with assorted frostings. Decorate ad lib.

Iceing
Two cups granulated sugar, 2 egg whites, beaten stiff, 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar, 1/2 cup boiling water.

Mix sugar and cream of tartar and cook in boiling water, to make a syrup. Pour the syrup into the whites, a little at a time, beating constantly. Beat only till light and creamy. Add vanilla.

For your own tasty selfishness or with afternoon tea for your friends, use these simple sandwich recipes with their touch of ladylike glamor.

Open Lobster Salad

Cut bread in circles and butter lightly. Spread generously with lobster salad mixture. Decorate center with a slice of stuffed olive.

Open Chicken, Celery and Toasted Almond

Use finely chopped chicken and celery, seasoned and moistened with mayonnaise. Spread on a round of buttered bread. Garnish with a border of finely chopped toasted almonds around the edge and a tiny sprig of parsley in the center.

Rolls Cream Cheese and Pineapple

Cut white bread 1/4 inch thick. Remove crusts, and butter lightly. Spread with cream cheese and chopped canned pineapple. Roll tightly. Spread cream chopped pineapple nuts.

Chopped Tongue with Russian Dressing

Use finely chopped tongue, moistened with Russian dressing. Spread mixture on a slice of buttered whole wheat bread. Cover with a slice of buttered white or whole wheat bread. Cut in squares or fingers.

Relief Problem Is Fought With Health Program

BATON ROUGE, La.—(AP)—Louisiana is digging into the roots of the relief problem with a $1,000,000 health program.

The theory is that a man, given back his health, may find himself a job and cease being a public burden. Another idea is that his children will have better chances of growing into useful, self-supporting citizens if their health is guarded.

Accordingly, the state already is building one hospital for relief clients and is considering two others in addition to a $12,000,000 charity hospital being constructed in New Orleans from separate funds and still another charity hospital now in operation.

Eight trailer automobiles equipped with modern dental equipment to tour the state to give free treatment to the needy, the employment of dentists and physicians under state welfare laws and plans for combating syphilis and tuberculosis round out the program.

Cochrane Retires as Active Player

To Devote His Time as Manager of Tigers From Bench

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—P—Manager Mickey Cochrane of the Detroit baseball club announced Wednesday he was hanging up his big mitt for good after 13 years as a major league catcher. At the same time he predicted the Tigers would knock off the Yankees "if we get the pitching."

Cochrane's playing career actually ended last May 18 when he was benched by a fast ball pitched by Bump Hadley of the New York Yankees. For weeks he was in a critical condition and when he recovered he went on the voluntary retired list.

"I'm all through," Mickey said. "I won't even get in there as a pinch hitter any more. I feel fine now and I probably have some catching left in me, but I feel I could not do justice to two jobs—managing and playing."

"It makes me feel like the very devil I've had a lot of fun as a ball-player and I'm sorry it's all over."

As for the Yankees, "Somebody's going to knock them down eventually," Cochrane said, "and it may as well be us. We're in swell shape to do the job, if we get the pitching."

And what about the Tiger pitching? "Say," Cochrane grinned, "I've got 17 pitchers coming to camp at Lakeland and we ought to develop something out of the newcomers. I think Rowe may be all right this season. Then we've got Tommy Bridges and Eldon Aker and standbys. And Rony Lawson—don't forget him. He just won 18 last season, and should be even better this year."

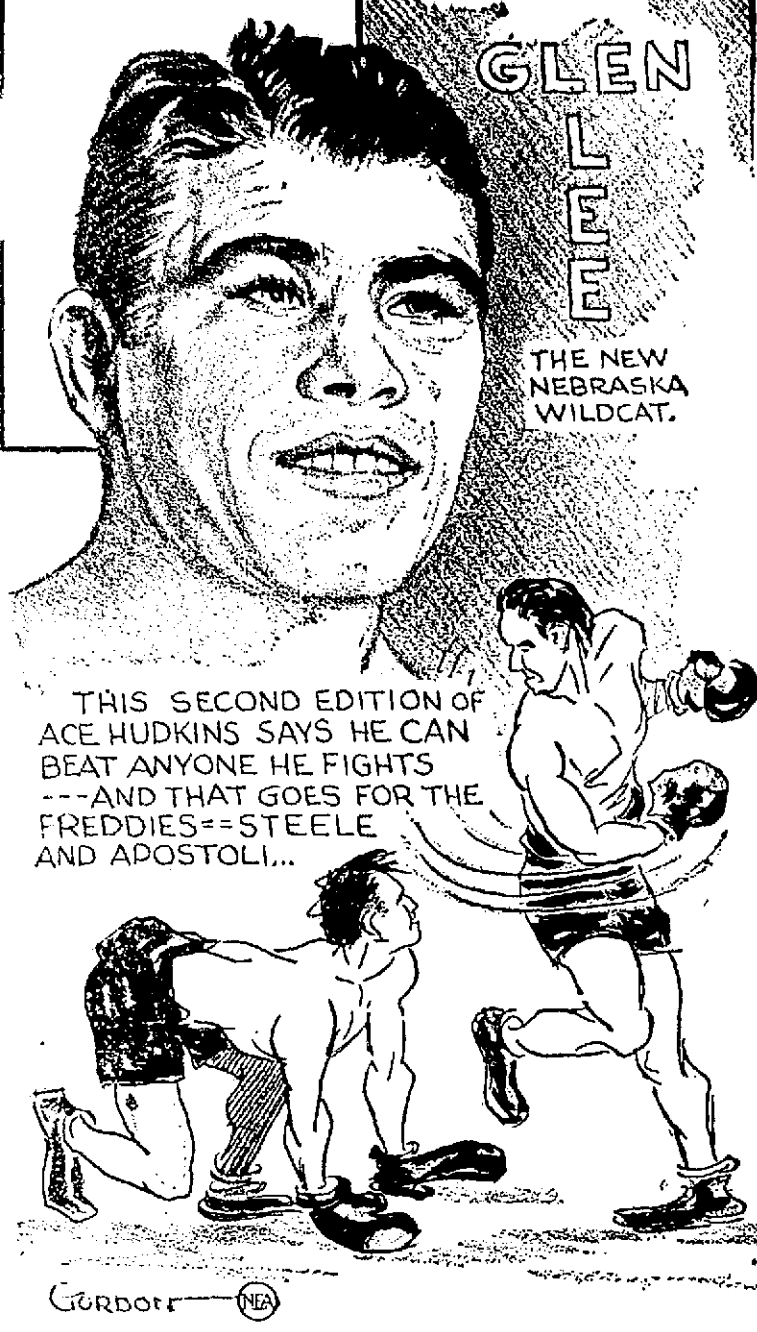

Mickey said Baron Poffenberger, who won 10 and lost five in his first year up from Beaumont, shaped up encouragingly and another newcomer, Alton Benton, who won 16 last year for Memphis "looks like the real goods."

"Then," he said, "we've got Vernon Kennedy, whom we received in a trade from the White Sox this winter, who is a real pitcher. Yes-sir, it looks pretty good."

Cochrane said young Rudy York will fill his shoes as first-string catcher, with the veteran Ray Hayworth in reserve.

Cochrane, who has conferred with Walter O. Briggs, club owner, several times during his rest here, planned to leave Wednesday for Lakeland, where training will begin March 5.

Series Will Probably Decide Southwest Conference Championship

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(P)—The undefeated University of Arkansas basketball team will leave Thursday for Waco, Texas, where they meet the second place Baylor Bears Friday and Saturday nights in games that probably will decide the Southwest Conference championship.

Tied with Baylor for second place is Southern Methodist University which comes here next week for games with the Razorbacks. A double victory at Waco and a single win over the Mustangs would give the Porkers the championship.

Coach Glen Rose said he would take 10 men to Waco. Those slated to go are Don Lockard, Jack Robbins, Jim Benton, Ray Hamilton, Harold Brady, Neil Martin, Lendon Chambers, Leslie Hagood, Bob Johnson and John Donaldson.

Benton and Hamilton missed drills early this week because of colds but were expected to be in playing condition by the week-end.

Blevins vs. Columbus.

Patmos vs. Washington.

The annual tournament for junior boys and senior girls was played last Friday and Saturday at Blevins. The Columbus girls won the girls championship, and Blevins the junior boys title.

The first quarter of the senior game was very close. N. Butler started the scoring for the Badgers. Emmet was ahead by a margin of one point at the end of the first quarter, but early in the second quarter the Badgers climbed ahead, and held the lead through the rest of the game. The final score was 38-20.

Cameron of Bodcaw was high point man with 12 points. J. Butler also of Bodcaw was a close second with 11 points, while Dunn of Bodcaw and E. Paul of Emmet tied for third place with 8 points each.

Very few points were made in the last half as each team played a defensive game. The final score was 12-13 for Emmet.

It was Billy Boyle who replied very succinctly:

"Graduation."
